

Where Children Sleep

Children are the future.

We can see our future in their today. What they experience during childhood will influence their lives and the lives all persons in this planet. James Mollison has prepare a project entitled “Where the Children Sleep”. The project sponsored by Save the Children Italy contains 112 photos each of them with a short story. Stories of opulence and of misery; some stories with happy ending, thought most of they are tragic and sad
