

Commentary on the Gospel for Thu, Dec 27th 2012

The word “love” may have lost its impact on us, but beyond all words, we know what love is for we have experienced being loved by someone. It is this experience that John, the beloved disciple of Jesus, shares with us in his Gospel message—the experience of being loved by the Lord. And after more than two thousand years, the disciples beloved by Jesus, we, still have to show the world what love is.
