

Liturgy Alive of Thursday, Octave of Easter

Introduction

We gather for our eucharist because we firmly believe that Christ died for us and is risen from the dead. We gather around the risen Lord to open our hearts and minds to his word and to let him fill us with his living presence. He tells us, as he told his apostles: "Look, it is really I; listen to me; touch me in the food and drink of the eucharist." Thus, in our assemblies we proclaim the risen Christ and bear witness to him. But this faith must find expression in our everyday Christian living: since Christ is risen, he must rise in us; we must become new people in whom Christ is alive. We must bear witness to him with the whole of our lives.

Opening Prayer

Almighty God and Father, Jesus died for us on the cross and you raised him from the dead.
We have not seen the marks of the nails in his hands nor touched the wound in his side, but we believe that he is alive and present here among us.
Open our hearts to his word and let us touch him in the bread of the eucharist, that he may raise us above our sins and change us into new people.
May we thus bear witness to your risen Son,

Jesus Christ our Lord.

General Intercessions

- That in the name of the risen Lord the Church may raise up its members and even outsiders to a new and better life, we pray:
- That the risen Lord may give us peace and serenity of heart, that in him we have someone to live for and to make our lives meaningful, we pray:
- That the risen Lord may give peace to our Christian communities through the certainty that he stays with us and breaks for us the bread of the eucharist, we pray:

Prayer over the Gifts

Living Father, with bread and wine we celebrate the presence of your Son in our midst here around this table and in the life of every day.
Let us experience him here as your great gift to us and let him stay with us in our never-ending quest to be your people trying to live the risen life of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Prayer after Communion

God of life and saving love, we have enjoyed the presence of your Son among us for we have been together in his name, he has spoken to us his words of life and we have shared his table.
May he live on in our community by our attentive presence to one another, our common faith expressed in deeds of love and service, of gratitude and compassion, by our efforts to create a better world where there is justice and hope for all.
May we thus journey together to you and bear witness that Christ is our Lord now and for ever.

Blessing

"Peace be with you," says Jesus to us. It is really he who lives among us. Let us touch him in our prayer, in our closeness to him, and may almighty God bless you, the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit.
